Support to bulldozer victims by handing over Keys to Jamiat-built houses in NUH

New Delhi, November 13 - Maulana Mahmood Asa'd Madani, President of Jamiat Ulama-i-Hind, denounced the demolition of houses in Mewat in August as an act of state-sponsored brutality targeting a particular community. Maulana Madani expressed his dismay while handing over keys to houses constructed by Jamiat to families affected by the riots and government actions in Nalhar, Mewat.

Addressing the gathering, Maulana Madani questioned the government's bulldozer actions, stating, "Should I call this state terrorism? Whatever it is, it is a black mark on the forehead of this country's democracy." He emphasized that any government must adhere to the constitution, and deviation from the law would brand it as anarchic rather than a lawful governing body.

Maulana Madani added, "The architects of this country did not liberate it for oppression and discrimination but for justice and law. The Haryana government's actions in Mewat reflect lawlessness, making the poor and helpless the primary victims."

Maulana Madani, who visited Mewat and participated in a program jointly organized by Jamiat Youth Club and Deeni Ta'alimi Board, called attention to the need for justice and unity. He underlined the importance of every class contributing to the nation-building process.

During his visit, Maulana Madani met with Mewat riot victims and assessed ongoing rehabilitation work initiated by Jamiat. He condemned the targeting of Mosques in Mewat during the riots and criticized the lack of action by the government and the Police.

The people of Mewat welcomed his arrival in Mewat with gratitude. A letter of thanks was presented to the legal and welfare cooperation provided by Jamiat during challenging times.

In a separate joint meeting of Jamiat, Tablighi Jamaat, and Madaris at Madrasa Moinul Islam Nuh, Maulana Madani emphasized the establishment of an organized Maktab.

The joint delegation included Maulana Hakeemuddin Qasmi, General Secretary of Jamiat Ulama-i-Hind, Maulana Yahya Karimi, State President of JUH, Maulana Mufti Zahid Qasmi, Imam of Jama Masjid Nuh, and several other prominent members.

Inaugurating the Jamiat Youth Club camp at Madrasa Ubai bin Kaab at Ghasera, Maulana Madani stressed the importance of instilling passion in children and creating leaders rather than focusing solely on infrastructure. He highlighted the role of institutions in producing individuals contributing to religious, social, and national fields.

- Maulana Abdul Aziz, Imam, Sunehri Bagh Masjid

New Delhi, December 26, 2023: Maulana Mahmood Asa'd Madani, President of Jamiat Ulama-i-Hind, has written a letter to Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Home Minister Amit Shah, expressing his deep concern regarding the potential demolition of the Sunheri Bagh Mosque situated at Rajpath in New Delhi. In his letter, Maulana Madani has conveyed his apprehension regarding the notification issued by the New Delhi Municipal Council (NDMC), soliciting public opinion on the proposed removal of the mosque. He emphasized that such an action could significantly harm our shared cultural heritage. "The mosque is a grade-III heritage building as per an October 2009 notification of Delhi government. It was erected around 200 years ago which caters to a large number of worshippers working in nearby offices." In the letter Maulana Madani said, "We firmly believe that such an action would constitute a grave loss to our shared heritage. This mosque, with its profound historical significance, stands as a testament to our nation's pluralistic ethos and the harmonious coexistence of various communities. Its existence is not only crucial for their architectural beauty but also for the spiritual and historical values they represent." I urge you to kindly take cognizance of this matter and initiate the necessary steps to ensure the protection and preservation of Sunheri Bagh Masjid. Architects Write To NDMC Against Razing Of Mosque

'Sunehri Bagh Masjid Is Testament To Our Historical Legacy'

NDMC had sought public response to the proposed removal of the mosque.

New Delhi: Several architects have expressed the demolition of the mosque as the Sunehri Bagh masjid and made an appeal against its removal in the interest of protecting the country's cultural heritage.

On Friday the department of architecture and environment of the New Delhi Municipal Council (NDMC) had sought public response to the proposed removal of the mosque for better traffic management.

In a letter to the chief architect, NDMC, the architects stated, "The Sunehri Bagh masjid is not merely a structure of bricks and mortar; it stands as a testament to our historical legacy and architectural grandeur. Its demolition would result in an irreparable loss to the cultural fabric and collective identity of our city. It would also disrupt the architectural continuity of the area and obscure the tangible history of our ancestors."

The letter said that while the architects are in favour of integrating with historical preservation, resulting development and conservation should be handled in a balanced manner. The architects urged the government to consider alternative proposals that would and the preservation of its cultural sites. "Please let us be remembered as the generation that preserved our heritage over conservation," the letter stated. Several architects, who

"Rather than getting public opinion in this matter, they should take expert opinion to solve the traffic problem. For instance, there could be a roundabout around the mosque, a tunnel or an overhead flyover," the architects said, adding that the size of the mosque is so small that it can be easily preserved along the traffic route.

Stemming from the need to find alternative solutions, Parvika Narayan from Narayan Nandan Architects Association said, "We should be proud of the city's rich heritage and diverse history. The best thing would be to conserve and to work around it."

Parvika Narayan, an architect, said many places in Delhi witness opposition due to the presence of historical monuments. "Every single day our city is being reshaped

HALAL CERTIFICATION

In light of recent misleading information circulating through various media outlets and an FIR lodged in Hazratgunj, Lucknow, regarding Halal Products and Certification services, Jamiat Ulama-i-Hind Halal Trust, India aims to address and clarify the misconceptions.

New Delhi 18-11-2023: At Jamiat Ulama-i-Hind Halal Trust, our certification process aligns with manufacturers' requirements for both export purposes and domestic distribution in India. The global demand for Halal Certified products is robust, and it's imperative for Indian companies to obtain such Certification, a fact endorsed by our Ministry of Commerce, Government of India (refer to Ministry of Commerce Trade notification no. 25/2022-23).

It is also a matter of choice of individuals and manufacturers preferring to certain certifications for their own satisfaction based upon the credentials which the certifying authorities enjoy. It saves large number of consumers from using products which they do not want for a variety of reasons and ensures availability of need based products in the market. Those who do not want to use such products are free not to use them.

Halal certification stands as a significant economic activity benefiting our nation. It's not merely a requirement for importing countries but also for tourists visiting India, particularly those seeking Halal certified products during their stay, as highlighted by the Ministry of Commerce & Industry (no 03/2023 dated 6th of April 2023).

We adhere to government regulations, as emphasized in the Ministry of Commerce & Industry notification, requiring all Halal Certification bodies to be registered by NABCB (National Accreditation Board for Certification Bodies under Quality Council of India), a milestone that Jamiat Ulama-I-Hind Halal Trust has achieved.

Collaborating closely with APEDA (Agricultural Products Exports Development Authority of India) and Indian embassies worldwide, we actively promote Indian Halal Certified products in global markets. If India needs to export, then we need to fulfill these mandatory requirements set by the importing countries. Jamiat Ulama-I-Hind Halal Trust's Halal Certificates are globally recognized by different governments and authorities all across the world. Authorities situated in countries like Malaysia (JAKIM), Indonesia, Thailand (CICOT), Singapore (MUIS), South Korea (MFDS), Qatar (MoH), UAE (MOIAT, ESMA & EIAC), Saudi Arabia (SFDA), SASO (Saudi Arabia) all GCC countries (GAC) recognized our certificate and we have been accreditation from them. We are a member of the World Halal Food Council.

The Halal Certification logo not only aids Halal consumers but also offers informed choices to all consumers. It's essential to note that all financial transactions are duly accounted for, with proper GST and income tax payments and thorough auditing, ensuring complete legality and transparency in our operations.

Certain individuals propagating false claims against Halal Certification directly undermine our national interests. Halal Trade stands as a significant $3.5 trillion industry, and India benefits from its promotion in exports and tourism, particularly with our crucial trade partners in the OIC countries and Southeast Asia.

In response to baseless allegations aimed at tarnishing our image, Jamiat Ulama-I-Hind Halal Trust will take necessary legal measures to counter such misinformation.

Addressing misconceptions surrounding Halal Certification remains pivotal. As evidenced by the Kerala High Court's observation on the necessity to understand the concept of Halal, we stand committed to clarifying and upholding the integrity of our operations.

A poet once expressed,

سادہ لوگوں کی سمجھ میں یہ حساب آتا نہیں
کہ دل نہیں پھرتے تو ہر گز انقلاب آتا نہیں

"Simple people do not understand this calculation: If the hearts do not change, there will be no revolution. If revolution is to be brought, then the heart will have to be changed."

Some aspects of our lives are individual, while others are collective. Strength at an individual level contributes to collective strength. Individual weaknesses lead to collective carelessness and inaction. Challenges, problems, and difficulties facing the community are often such that the people may not fully comprehend or understand them. However, we must overcome this situation. The entire community, as well as its individuals, must actively work towards this goal. It is a universal truth that only a few individuals stand up for a movement, and it falls upon us and you to be those individuals. Therefore, recognizing our responsibility is crucial.

Significance of dedicated individuals in any cause.

The necessity for impactful figures has been apparent since the time of the Prophets. Even as a significant number of people believed in the Prophet Muhammad (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him), he humbly sought Allah's favor through specific prayers for Hazrat Umar (RA). Despite the prevalent support, the Prophet fervently implored, "O Lord, bestow honor upon Islam, particularly through the conversion of Umar bin Al-Khattab to Islam."

In another instance, the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) fervently prayed, "O Allah, convert Umar bin Al-Khattab and Abu Jahl bin Hisham, who is more beloved to You, and grant Islam supremacy." These incidents highlight the Prophet's emotional appeal to Allah, and in response, Allah chose Hazrat Umar from the two individuals mentioned.

Similarly, Prophet Musa (peace be upon him) implored Allah, saying, "O Allah, designate my brother to cooperate with me; he possesses greater eloquence than I."

It is noteworthy that Hazrat Umar (RA) held a special status among the Companions of the Prophet. He was referred to as Murad (the intended one), while others were termed Mureed (the intended followers).

When asked about the distinction between Hazrat Umar and other companions, Syed Attullah Shah Bukhari responded, stating that Hazrat Umar is the intended one (Murad), while the rest of the companions are the intended followers (Mureed). This analogy underscores the unique role and significance of Hazrat Umar. It serves as a powerful example, emphasizing the invaluable role of dedicated individuals in any cause.

PRAYER AND EFFORTS

Recognizing the vital connection between prayer and effort is essential. Relying solely on prayer, without sincere effort, proves inadequate. Prayers offered by the incompetent, the passive, or those neglecting their responsibilities are unlikely to find acceptance. It's as if such prayers face rejection before they even leave the lips.

ESTABLISH RELATIONSHIP WITH A SPIRITUAL MENTOR

I encourage you, especially the younger ones, to establish a profound connection with a spiritual mentor or Shaykh. Endeavour to reach a state of mindfulness, purification, and benevolence, understanding that the holistic transformation of one's being—both physically and intellectually—is contingent upon the reform of the heart.

On the contrary, for those actively involved in diligent effort, Allah responds by influencing their prayers and pledging assistance. Allah, in His promise, assures that the hard work of such individuals will not be in vain. Therefore, the combination of heartfelt prayer and unwavering effort emerges as the pathway to divine support and ultimate success.

WHAT IS OUR PURPOSE?

What is underlying purpose of our endeavors? Do I repeatedly pose this question? Can you explain their purpose to me?

If our aim is the pleasure of Allah, then there is no loftier objective than it. Some may achieve it through Khidmat Khalq (serving humanity), while others may find it through Jamiat, Jamaat, and Madrassa—these are all means, with the ultimate purpose being the pleasure of Allah.

However, mutual conflicts have escalated here, perhaps because we have mistaken the means for the end. Therefore, the accuracy of intention is crucial. Hazrat Hasan Basri (may God bless him and grant him peace) said, "I have not seen anything more changeable than intention." If you want to make Allah's pleasure your goal, it is important to stay focused on the concept and idea of this essence and goal. For this purpose, connecting with a sheikh is highly useful. Even today, there are many Mashaikhs; you should stay in touch with them and organize dhikr.

TAKE CARE OF YOUR WELL-BEING

The foremost priority is to ensure your health because without good health, effective work becomes challenging. To maintain your well-being, it is essential to nourish both your physical and spiritual dimensions, as previously mentioned. Paying attention to dhikr (remembrance of Allah) and azkar (supplications) is crucial, along with the advice 'one should not eat too much.'

Hazrat Thanvi (RH), May God bless him and grant him peace, articulated this wisdom eloquently. Hazrat Haji Imdadullah Sahib, Muhajir Makki, may God bless him and grant him peace, adopted a disciplined approach, restricting both food and water. Simplifying the guidance, Hazrat Thanvi suggested, "Eat and drink, but consume in moderation while engaging in abundant dhikr and azkar."

The renowned story of Bahlul Dana recounts his quest for advice on dietary habits. He approached various individuals, each offering different insights, such as the recommendation to chew each morsel forty times. Later, when they collectively urged him to share his wisdom, he told that we should eat halal, ensuring it is permissible or halal."

I stressed dedicating at least twenty minutes to physical exercise. Recognizing that some individuals may encounter challenges with structured exercise or lack guidance, I propose a straightforward solution: a brisk walk for a minimum of twenty minutes.

Respect yourself

Also listen that other people will not respect you until you respect yourself. If you cannot respect yourself, how will others respect you?

The sun cannot dry the ocean

No matter how strong the sun is, it cannot dry the sea. It gives us strength and courage, you are like the sea, no matter how strong the sun is, it cannot dry you up.

LEARN THE ART OF FORGIVENESS

Thirdly, bread the ability to forgive—forgive your family, friends, and neighbours. Not solely to seek Allah's pleasure, but for your own contentment. An analogy to this is when my mobile phone started slow. I shared this concern with someone, and he advised me deleting unnecessary files. Like this, if you neglect this advice and carry the burden in your heart, it will also slow down. You won't find peaceful sleep with a heavy heart; experience it for yourself. Everyone has experienced wrongdoing at some point, and the actions of those close to us often cut even deeper.

By learning to forgive, you pave the way to resolve all your problems. Don't reserve forgiveness for the night; while some suggest forgiving before bedtime, I propose not even waiting for sleep. Life's end is uncertain.

Keep in mind, if you don't cultivate the skill of forgiveness, collaborative efforts with others will remain elusive. Some imperfections are involuntary, while others are a matter of choice. Therefore, as you grapple with an optional ailment of unforgiveness, you limit your impact on society, communities, your organization, and your disciples. To enhance your influence, you must conquer your internal weaknesses, with unforgiveness being the most significant of them all.

Join the Caravan of Devotees

The path is filled with numerous twists and turns, but these deviations should not be perceived as the culmination of the journey.

کچھ اہل عشق نے ایک کارواں اپنا بنایا ہے
وہی پہنچیں گے منزل تک جو ان کے ساتھ ہوں گے

(Certain devotees have crafted their own caravan, and it is only by being in their company that one can reach the ultimate destination.)

ENGAGE IN PURPOSEFUL ACTIVITY AND STUDY

Immerse yourself in meaningful activities to the extent that you need to schedule time for personal breaks. I've observed that keeping yourself occupied with various tasks often results in having limited time for personal leisure.

The exemplary life of the Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) serves as a guide for us. Begin by delving into the biography of the Prophet and the history of the Caliphs. Following this, explore contemporary history, the history of modern India, and the history of Muslims in current times. Take note of significant events and reflections in a diary to enhance your understanding and retain valuable insights.

YOU ARE THE FUTURE

The time has come for us to progress, and you, the younger generation, represent the hope for the future. It is crucial to contemplate how you will shoulder the responsibilities of the nation and begin preparing for it. As part of this initiative, I have made a decision that when Jamiat Ulema-i-Hind undergoes its next organizational election, I will propose a restriction: no individual should serve more than two terms in the key positions at the district, provincial, and central levels. This strategic approach is aimed at ushering in new individuals, injecting fresh perspectives, and streamlining organizational efforts.

HAS DREAM OF HAZRAT SHAH WALIULLAH FULFILLED?

The dream envisioned by Hazrat Shah Waliullah, in my analysis, remains unfulfilled to date, along with the aspirations of many other martyrs.

Hazrat Syed Ahmad Faizabadi, through his unwavering resilience, compelled the British to reassess their stance, earning praise even from figures like Savarkar who acknowledged him as 'Bharat ka Sapoot'. Subsequently, luminaries such as Hazrat Nanotwi, Hazrat Gangohi, and Hazrat Sheikhul Hind (may Allah have mercy on them) propelled the mission to greater heights. The impact of their efforts is evident in the global reach of contemporary scholars and prominent Muslims. Whether in Turkey, Jordan, Saudi Arabia, Africa, or Egypt, the influence of Hazrat Nanotowi and Hazrat Gangohi persists among concerned scholars.

In the past two centuries, the movement led by these venerable elders stands unparalleled. They meticulously organized the hitherto disorganized efforts, culminating in the establishment of educational structures in 1866 that centralized the teaching for aspiring scholars. Their concerted efforts brought together diverse strands of Islamic education that were previously dispersed.

Now, it falls upon the present generation to carry forward this sacred mission, recognizing that Hazrat Shah Wali Allah's dream remains incomplete. It is essential to assess the current needs and devise strategies to fulfill them. The question to ponder is whether we possess the capacity to meet these needs. Such contemplation requires concern, determination, and action. Remember, meaningful change does not happen overnight; it requires consistent effort and dedication. Initiating a task 'tomorrow' often signifies it is destined not to occur.

BUILD STRONG BONDS WITH YOUR FAMILY

Strive to maintain an exceptionally high standard in your relationship with your family, even if it requires sacrificing some personal pursuits.

Always stand by the one who consistently stands by you—yourself. Individual strength is a prerequisite for collective empowerment, and self-development is essential for individual strength. The process of self-building will ultimately bring fulfilment to your life.
